UNION HALL - 1800-1825 - 1620 Loch Ness Road, Loch Raven Village. This large, two-story, gable-roofed, vernacular style stone house was the main dwelling of a Stansbury family property called Union Hall, the land owned by that family since 1684. This particular house cannot be found on the 1798 tax list. A house, probably this one, was shown as home of William Stansbury on the 1850 Sidney map. Property acquired in 1955 by the Babcock Memorial Presbyterian Church and has been used as their manse. Across the lawn is an older house, possibly a converted outbuilding (A stillhouse?) that is listed as 1610 Loch Ness (BA 2298), a property in another ownership.
